BURGAN BANK APPOINTS DIGITAL BANKING GROUP HEAD

Placing great emphasis on technology and standing out with its customer-oriented business approach, Burgan Bank has created an in-house Digital Banking Group and appointed Ufuk Dinç as the Group Head.

Having completed 2016 with successful financial results, and continuing to contribute to the Turkish economy with its strong financial structure and powerful financier, Burgan Bank continues to make significant investments in technology. Offering new internet banking for its customers earlier this year, the bank has created an in-house Digital Banking Group, rapidly continuing its activities in this area.

Ufuk Dinç has been assigned as the Group Head for the Digital Banking Group established in order to ensure more effective and productive management of digital banking products and applications in line with Burgan Bank Turkey's strategy and goals.

Having completed a degree in aircraft engineering at ITU (Istanbul Technical University) in 1994, and a master's in industrial engineering in 1997 at the same university, Ufuk Dinç started his career in Demirbank in 1995. Working as a manager in the fields of organization, project management, human resources, alternative channels and information technologies from 2000-2008 at İktisat Bankası, Oyakbank and Bank Pozitif, Dinç was General Manager of C Bilişim A.Ş. , which is a subsidiary of Bank Pozitif, from 2008-2015. After 2012, he worked at Bank Pozitif as Assistant General Manager responsible for new generation banking.

Dinç has a good command of English and is married with one son.
