Recent Developments

The Turkish economy is expected to post a moderate growth rate of around 3% in 2014, driven largely by a rebound in net exports, as opposed to slower domestic demand. Rapidly rising exports, thanks to the recovery in Turkey's leading export market, the EU, and some acceleration in gold exports, have underpinned the external rebalancing process. Current account deficit has narrowed significantly since the beginning of the year: from 7.9% as of YE13 to 6.1% of the GDP as of Jul'14; and is estimated to recede further towards 5.9% of the GDP by YE14. Inflation has climbed gradually to as high as 9.66% in May'14, triggered by c.30% depreciation of the TRL and accelerating food inflation, but is expected to settle at c7%, once these effects fade away.
